Dear Carrie,

Have you ever wanted to earn early childhood college credits online? There are still a few openings available for Early EdU this spring!

In collaboration with the Utah Education Network and the Early EdU Alliance, Office of Child Care would like to announce that there are still a few openings available in the Early EdU Child Development and Brain Building course being held this spring. These openings will be filled on a first come, first served basis.

Course Description: Participants will learn to identify children’s developmental trajectories. An emphasis on brain development will provide participants with a unique lens to apply in their early learning program. Participants will create early childhood environments that promote physical, language, social and emotional and cognitive development. The course explores the key role that individual differences and family and socio-cultural context plays in development and learn strategies to build relationships that support each child’s individual development.

The course will be held January 23, 2020 through May 20, 2020.

- Participants usually spend an average of 10-15 hours weekly completing coursework.

- Participants must be able to spend time directly interacting with children weekly for practicum and will need to film themselves (e.g. on a cell phone) interacting with children several times throughout the semester.

- Upon successful completion of a course, participants may earn 3 college credits through Southern Utah University for just $63.00 (may transfer to...
